

Amberly E. Dozier, Ph.D Fellow

Department of Economics, George Mason University, 4400 University Dr. Fairfax, VA 22030

703.268.9438 | adozier2@gmu.edu

EDUCATION

George Mason University, Fairfax, VA

Ph.D., Economics Anticipated May 2023

M.A., Economics 2019-2021

James Madison University, Harrisonburg, VA

B.S., Economics 2003-2007

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Empirical Economics, Applied Microeconomics, Behavioral Economics, Experimental Economics, Industrial Organization, Game Theory

WORK

Graduate Teaching Assistantship, Department of Economics 2020 – 2021

PhD Fellowship, Mercatus Center 2021 – 2022

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Course Instructor Introduction to Econometrics (Undergraduate) Fall 2021

Graduate Teaching Assistant Mathematical Economics I (Ph.D. and Master's) Fall 2020

International Monetary Economics (Ph.D) Spring 2021

Time Series Econometrics (Ph.D) Spring 2021

Economics for the Citizen (Undergraduate) Spring 2021

Applied Econometrics (Master's) Summer 2021

RESEARCH

Working Papers

“Evaluating the Efficacy of Stricter National School Lunch Guidelines: A Case Study of West Virginia.”

“Experimental Evidence on Framed Marketing, Menu Signals on Willingness-to-Pay for Nutritional Attributes.”

WORKSHOPS

CFE Summer Empirical Workshop in Applied Microeconomics, West Virginia University, WV 2020

- Difference in Differences, Structural Modeling, Experimental Methods, Web Crawling/Scraping.